Fire in Lower Compartment Seriously Burns Two Men and Three More Overcome by Gas--Heroic Work by Leadingman

M. L. Wright of East Rochester and C. W. Martin of 7 National Place, Newburyport, were badly burned and gassed, and Edward McLean, Daniel O'Neil and Paul M. Crockett were overcome by gas in a fire which occurred in one of the lower compartments of submarine 109, being built at the navy yard on Friday afternoon. It was one of the worst accidents of the year at this yard and it was replete with sensational happenings and also a display of grit on the part of McLean in his efforts to save the two men.

Wright and Martin were working in one of the bottom compartments of the submarine, which is gained by entrance through a manhole and then passage through several other compartments with just opening enough to allow the passage of a man. They were engaged in electric welding some of the inside plates, when a spark from the iron set fire to the clothes of Martin, which being flammable freely, both men made a rush to get out of their narrow quarters and both got jammed.

In the meanwhile Daniel O'Neil, who was working in another compartment, heard their cries and went to their rescue and he used a fire extinguisher on Martin to check the fire, and when he did it released a gas that overcame both men and also himself, although he managed to give the alarm before he dropped. Paul M. Crockett, another worker, went to their aid and he was overcome. By this time the entire ship was aroused and Leadingman McLean, as soon as he arrived immediately went into the compartments dragging a compressed air hose which cleared out the gas or drove it to other parts of the ship.

He kept on until he finally located the two men and finding that they were unconscious and that he could not get them out, he reported back to the officers who had arrived, including Industrial Manager Adams, Dr. Farthing from the Yard Dispensary, with other doctors from the ship, Dr. Small wearing a gas mask went into the compartment but he could not do anything.

Captain Adams, as soon as he found the condition and as soon as McLean had located the men, ordered that a plate be cut away from the bottom of the submarine, and a gang of acetylene welders began the work. McLean first crawled in to the men and by signals definitely located the spot, for a few feet either way would have been useless. He took along with him some asbestos sheets which he first put about the bodies of the two men and when protected the acetylene cutters began their work with the fire.

As they cut through the plate, McLean held the heads of the men up and protected their bodies with the asbestos, all this in a little space no over four or five feet long and two feet high.

Finally the plate two feet square was cut away and pulled out and when the edges of the plates were cooled off as far as to allow them to work, the rescue crew pushed through to find all three men unconscious, as McLean had been overcome just before they got the plate off. They were tenderly pulled out of the compartment, and the waiting ambulance made a hurried trip to the Naval hospital. McLean came out in a short time, but it was far different with the other two men.

Wright was very badly burned about the body and face and badly gassed, while Martin was also badly burned and gassed, and it was some time before, by the use of oxygen, they were brought around. Both men are in a critical condition and at the hospital today they were reported as showing some improvement although still in the dangerous list.

Once the alarm was given the men and officers worked as quickly as they possibly could and every precaution was taken. O'Neil and Crockett were taken to the yard dispensary and treated and later able to go home, and McLean was able to go to his home in Kittery and last night appeared none the worse for his experience. McLean showed a fine courage and he was very highly commended by the officers present, and by the other workmen on the ship.

The submarine is one of the 8 type being built, and is well along toward completion.

Exeter, Jan. 11.—There were 161 deaths in Exeter last year, the last being large owing to the epidemic of influenza. The number, however, does not reach that of 1918, when there were 16. In 1918 the conditions were, however, different. The first half of 1918 showed a low death rate, while in the first three months of 1919 there were 52 deaths, and during the summer the mortality record was high. In addition to the deaths here, three Exeter men, Dr. Charles H. Gerrish, Edward W. Adams and Mrs. John Whitmore died out of town.

Merrill free lectures for the remainder of January will be: Jan. 15, Prof. Albert H. Gilmer of Tufts on "War Truths in Rascals' Cartoons." Charles Frederick of the navy is at his home here.

Three candidates were initiated at the meeting of Squamore lodge of Odd Fellows Thursday evening.

SERVICE RENDERED.

Service stripes are popular just now. Proud indeed is the man who wears the coveted gold stripe signifying six months overseas service. His service well merits the honor his stripe signifies. The men who did service on this side wear a silver stripe. They, too, deserve the honor bestowed on them. There is a question whether these men do not deserve a gold stripe as well as those who saw overseas service. They were necessary in their places. They were needed at their posts in order that the war might be successfully carried on. Indication point that they will soon receive equal recognition for their services.

How about the shipworkers? They seem to be forgotten. Those men who worked steadily right through the war giving their last ounce of energy in order that the ships might be forthcoming. These men were the vital cogs in the whole prosecution of the war. They did service that was absolutely necessary. Their work decided the termination of fighting. Delays meant more bloodshed. But there were no delays. Prompted by patriotism they pushed the ships forward and carried over men and supplies to the scene of battle. Extended discussion is unnecessary.

Recognition is due the shipworkers. Many yards are having medals made for all men who have given six months' continuous service during the war. The yards themselves should not be the ones to donate the medals. The service rendered was as necessary as any other war work. It should have equal recognition.

NOW IT'S BEER FOR HARVARD

Harvard has given up tea for beer. Or even a bottle of ale will serve the purpose at Cambridge. It is not known whether the rapidly approaching days of prohibition have anything to do with it, but two announcements have been made at Harvard, one sounding the death knell of the famous Chinese brew, the other sanctioning the more stimulating beverage. For the Harvard professors and their wives have this year omitted the Christmas custom of holding afternoon teas for students, while it has been announced that candidates for the freshman and varsity crews will not be allowed to drink anything but a bottle of beer or perhaps ale for supper.

In past years the Harvard professors held university tea parties so that the students might be acquainted with their wives and some of the families of the college faculty. The war has made so many inroads in the life of the college professor that he has not time for the tea or a tete a tete and the college boys will have to draw their own.

AMERICAN EX-PRISONERS RETURNED

BOSTON NAVY YARD CROWDED WITH SHIPS

Report Says Not Enough Men to Do the Work on the Vessels.

Boston navy yard is filled with ships and there are not enough men to repair and look after them. It was officially stated at the First Naval District today.—Boston American.
Other reports say that more ships are on the way to Charlestown and it comes near being a question of "where will they tie up?" This in no 50-50 deal as far as Portsmouth is concerned. Boston at present is said to have over 35 ships on the navy yard water front of which over two-thirds are there for repairs and overhauling. Something different at Portsmouth yard with one cruiser and a small gunboat making up the ships now here for repairs. The Charleston is about ready to sail and the only outside work will be confined to the U. S. S. "Albatross." It is hard to understand why the water front at Portsmouth yard is so bare and every kind of a navy vessel coming back from the war zone, to say nothing of ships being made over for transport service.

IT LEAKED OUT.

A few days before Christmas a friend of Billy Martins presented him with a keg of sweet cider for himself and his office force and Billy being a very busy man and having already placed an order for a little juice for home use, believed the keg to be his. The cider arrived a few minutes before train time and Billy quickly adjusted the six gallons to his shoulder and beat it for Dover, only to learn that the gift was intended to add to the holiday spirit among his assistants as well as himself. Billy is the kind of a fellow that can see a joke a mile away and the keg was at once returned to the office. We have wondered however, who the diplomat was who convinced him the cider was for the bunch.

N. Y. TIE-UP COMPLETE

(By Associated Press)

New York, Jan. 16.—No hopes for an early settlement of the strike which has paralyzed the traffic in New York Harbor was apparent tonight. Leaders of the workmen state that they are prepared to fight to the finish and the New York Boat Owners' Association says that they would never agree to an eight-hour day.

The visit of Secretary of War Baker led to the hopes that his visit might have some bearing on the strike, but this evening when he left for Ottawa he gave no indication that he would interfere. He said that as far as he could learn there has not been any interference with the war department.

MAKE YOUR SHOES WEAR LONGER

Ten months ago, W. L. Kelley, a lumber salesman of Orono, Maine, of shoes re-soled with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. They are still good for another month or two.

Good shoe care is a thing that many people neglect. They buy shoes that give them trouble and wear them out. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a substitute for shoe polish. They are a pure vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get at the cause. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects. They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually at 10c and 25c per box. All druggists. Take one or two nightly and at the beginning of each day.

The ships with troops are being docked and the supplies to the overseas forces are moving along in order and without delay. They are plenty of naval tugs for this purpose he explained.

He said that as far as he could learn no reply has been received from President Wilson in answer to the cable of Secretary of Labor Wilson advising him of the situation.

The most serious incident of the strike today was the action of the leaders revoking all exemptions, thereby calling on all of the crews on fireboats and on the crafts running to city institutions on the islands.

A. H. Smith, regional director of railroads, has failed in his effort to arrange an armistice, and no reply has been received from his letter to the union, but they are not in favor of the armistice.

Washington, Jan. 16.—No further government action in the New York harbor strike is likely now.

Basel M. Manley, joint chairman of the War Labor Board, today telegraphed to Gov. Edge of New Jersey that the Board under the existing powers could take no further steps. Boat owners he said had refused to submit the matter to arbitration and had opposed all federal aid or interference.

DRYDEN TO MEET KILONIS

Bill Dryden, after two weeks layoff, is to give the fans another wrestling match on Monday evening when he takes on Jim Condens of Plainfield, N. J., one of the best of the men of his weight wrestling about New York. Bill in the two weeks' layoff has been keeping in fine trim and he is in splendid condition.

Dryden has signed articles to meet John Kilonis in Manchester on Monday Jan. 20, having been offered a very fine purse by the Manchester promoters for the match. On Friday he sent a check to the Sporting Editor of the Manchester Leader to guarantee that he will be present on that date.

There is a great interest here in the match and a bunch of fans are making arrangements to make the trip to Manchester to see the match. If there are enough people interested a special train will be run from this city return after the match, if not many will go by auto.

NO MORE DESERTS IN THE WEST

Washington, D. C.—Eastern tourists are sadly misinformed about conditions on so-called Western deserts, according to Secretary W. D. Hishel of the Utah State Automobile Association, who sends to Chairman Carl G. Fisher of the A. A. A. Touring Board this summation of far-western road travel conditions:

"What about the so-called Western deserts and automobile touring? Every person east of the Rocky Mountains who contemplates a tour through the Pacific coast is today in fear of the so-called deserts. He has in mind the old school geography, which rounded all that country lying between the Rocky Mountains and the Pacific Coast as the Great American Desert. He has visions of miles and miles of sand with almost unbearable heat, through which he must push his way to reach the Pacific Ocean. He has read columns and columns of newspaper press agent 'slush,' where this car or that truck made the trip after hardships worse than could be found on the Western Front, and that the driver came through alive due only to the strong construction of the particular car he drove, or the make of tires the car had on, or the kind of lubricating oil he used—depending on whether a car manufacturer, a tire builder or oil refiner was footing the bill.

"Now what are the actual conditions? The tourist can follow any one of the central routes and have all of sleep to under a roof every night. He can sit down to a table to eat his three meals a day. He will find gasoline a garage and automobile supplies at frequent intervals, or as often as he needs them. The lighter he is equipped the faster time he can make instead of heat he will find an overcoat comfortable if he drives at night and he will encounter more sand on the old river bed crossing near his farm in the mid-continent country than he will encounter between the Rocky Mountains and the Pacific Coast. Whenever water can be turned on the so-called desert land he will see crops of wheat and potatoes, fruit and vegetables, that will far surpass the yield per acre of his Eastern farm. And what is more, he will scarcely ever be out of view of another automobile occupied by a man and his family traveling to see the country."

PRESIDENT TO STAND BY ITALY

(By Associated Press)

Paris, Jan. 16.—President Wilson is said to have virtually made up his mind as to how far he will support Italy in her claims at the peace conference and also that he has informed the Italian Premier to that effect. While the President's opinion has not been made public it is asserted by close friends of the President that he is only partly in sympathy with the Italian aspirations. He is said to be in favor of Italy getting the territory that is undeniably Italian and such as to protect herself, keeping in mind the interest of the Slavs. It is anticipated that the President's leaning does not go so far as to say that he will favor giving Italy control of the Adriatic, but that he is willing that Italy be so protected that she need not fear invasion from the east.

The President is said to realize that Italy depends solely upon the United States for support and that while the President is very friendly and willing to help he is not willing to subscribe to all of Italy's aspirations.

DEVENS TO HAVE SCHOOLS SOON

Camp Devens, Jan. 16.—The "Camp Devens Educational Institute" is due to open soon after the educational conference on Thursday to which 100 New England college presidents and secondary school heads have been invited, and the educational exhibit on Wednesday when schools of agriculture, business, trade, technical training, academic and correspondence will lay before the officers and soldiers opportunities that are open.

Dr. Payson Smith, state commissioner of education, has co-operated with Maj. Gen. McCann in planning the educational work for the winter.

Literate soldiers will have English, reading and writing as a part of the military education. Other subjects will be elective and will be taught in vocational, commercial, agricultural and general departments.

The instructors will include Y. M. C. A. educational secretaries, enlisted men and officers and a few special teachers provided by the state university extension department.

An advisory council has been formed including A. Lincoln Feltz, chairman, Prof. Paul Hunsu of Harvard University, Dr. Payson Smith, Robert Small, deputy state commissioner for vocational training; Superintendent of Schools Franklin Thompson of Boston, Robert J. Fuller, U. S. director of vocational rehabilitation; Dean Russell of Franklin Institute, Arthur Williamson of Wentworth Institute, Walter J. McDuffie of the Central high school, Springfield, and Dr. James Meyer of the university extension department, state board of education. Other advisers represent the military authorities, W. P. Wade and Ernest R. Green, educational directors of the Y. M. C. A. represent the association.

The 12th division will assign 1500 soldiers for discharge each day until the 50 per cent authorized for discharge have been demobilized. The first lot will go up for final physical examinations Monday and will be discharged Wednesday. Each man in the division will receive a souvenir roster of the division.

Orders have come for the disbandment of the depot brigade and it will cease to exist after Jan. 16. The demobilizing will be carried on by a camp casual organization. Some 2500 soldiers are en route for camp to be discharged.

The 7th infantry regiment's show "Great in guerre" gave its matinee performance Thursday afternoon, postponed from Wednesday on account of the Roosevelt funeral. Hundreds were turned away and the Liberty Theatre was packed as it never was before.

contract material and ships when they were requisitioned by the United States at the time she entered the war. The matter is left unsettled, however, as the amount is far below what the Norwegians claim. Further claims will be taken up in Washington, where Mr. Stevens will go soon in connection with this and other shipping matters.

The Norwegians declared that some concerns feared disaster unless they obtained funds immediately. This brought about today's decision. The two sides were unable to agree on a final settlement owing to the wide difference of opinion as to the present market value of the ships and material taken by the United States.

TO WORK IN SENATE NEXT

Miss Elsie Hill of Connecticut, who has been in the state for the past week co-operating with the legislative work of the New Hampshire branch of the National Woman's party, arrived from Concord last evening and is stopping at the Rockingham. Miss Hill came to report to Miss Sallie Hovey, N. H. chairman of the Woman's party, the details of Thursday's victory for the suffrage resolution in the New Hampshire House.

After a conference with Miss Hovey, Miss Hill said to a representative of the Chronicle:

"The overwhelming vote in the assembly on the resolution requesting Mr. Hollis and Mr. Moses to vote for the amendment to the state of the Susan B. Anthony suffrage amendment is a move the forerunner of similar action by the Senate."

"It is at last thoroughly understood at Concord that passage of the resolution does not commit the state or the individual to suffrage itself. It is also understood at last that the New Hampshire senators in Washington, when voting 'yes' on the so-called suffrage resolution will not be voting on the principle of suffrage itself."

"The question before the New Hampshire Senate is 'Shall we request our United States senators to vote yes on a resolution to submit the principle of equal suffrage to the 48 states?'"

"Neither Senator Marvin at Concord nor Senator Moses at Washington has an opportunity yet to vote for or against equal suffrage."

"If the United States Senate passes the resolution, which we are asking Senator Moses to support, then Senator Marvin can vote for or against the ratification of the principle of equal suffrage."

"Now the support is demanded to the right of millions of suffrage advocates to give the principle constitutional test."

HAVE COLOR IN CHEEKS

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study with his patients.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects. They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually at 10c and 25c per box. All druggists. Take one or two nightly and at the beginning of each day.

Prices and Wages.

According to a report issued a few days ago by the National Industrial Conference Board the cost of living has advanced 70 per cent in the last four years in communities where there has been no material increase in rents. Where rents have gone up the cost has been still higher as a matter of course.

Increase in the cost of leading articles has been as follows: Food, 83 per cent; clothing, 93 per cent; fuel and light, 55 per cent; sundries, 55 per cent. These are things that all families must have, and where rents were increased the burden was even greater than in places where there was no heavy advance in this particular line.

The report says that no article of food advanced less than 50 per cent, while lard, bacon, corn meal, flour, sugar and certain kinds of meat advanced at least 100 per cent. The cost of clothing nearly doubled in the four years, and the same is true of shoes. The price of coal advanced 60 per cent or more. In addition to all this was a big increase in the prices of tobacco and other small things, all of which helped to increase the burden.

Of course there was only one thing that enabled the people to carry this load, and that was wages which corresponded fairly well to the increase in prices, with employment for all who were able and willing to work. Some contend that wages have not advanced as much as prices, but, on the whole, it has been about an even thing, and so people have been able to live.

How long these conditions will continue it is impossible to tell, but in view of past experiences it is hardly to be expected that a change more or less pronounced will be long deferred. The war created a high pressure in practically all industries, and even gave a boom to farming such as was never experienced before. There was work for everybody at top-notch wages, and while there was more or less growling at low wages and prices and wages will find their way back to a normal level in spite of all the efforts that may be made to prevent it.

Whatever changes may come will make little practical difference so long as a proper balance between wages and prices is maintained. Big wages are of small advantage so long as the worker has to spend every dollar he earns in order to live.

The only thing for working people and others to do is to go ahead, take things as they come and make the best of it. The world must be fed and clothed, and already there is talk of a great revival in the building industry, which was seriously checked by war conditions. So long as there is plenty of work the workers will be taken care of whether prices and wages are high or low, and that, after all, is the feature of most importance in a situation which presents nothing that should cause uneasiness or alarm.

A bill has been filed with the Massachusetts Legislature calling for an investigation of the coal question in that state with reference to the quality. But such action should be confined to no one state. The government should take steps to compel the operators to supply a decent quality of coal in return for the outrageous prices it permits them to collect.

The coming entertainment by a company of naval prisoners will be an entirely new thing for Portsmouth, and without doubt it will be highly creditable and enjoyable. Commander Osborne has assisted in the training of those who are to take part and they will undoubtedly be greeted by a full house.

Ohio, Oklahoma and Colorado have ratified the prohibitory amendment to the constitution, and Michigan did so only a short time ago. The states are falling into line at a rate which must be very gratifying to the "Drys," and it is no wonder that hard cider and other substitutes are looking up.

The ex-Kaiser also had four sons in the war, and, unlike those of a distinguished American family, they are all living. It is said that one of them has taken a position with a large automobile firm, which would indicate a praiseworthy disposition on his part to make the best of a bad job.

The New York investigation of why Liberty bonds are selling well below par discloses the fact that the sellers want the money and that the buyers are not averse to making an "honest dollar."

The British and Dutch governments are said to have reached an agreement regarding the status of former Emperor Wilhelm. They are way behind time. The world reached an agreement on that question a good while ago.

INTERESTING LETTER FROM SERGT. CRONIN

Attack From Sub on Way Over; Relates Work on Battlefield.

The following letter from Sergeant William F. Cronin of the 303 Field Artillery Supply Company in France, will be read with much interest by his friends in this city:

Troyon, France, Dec. 10, 1918.

Dear Friend:

Just a few lines in acknowledgment of your most welcome letter and I am sure appreciated it. It has been through no negligence on my part that I haven't written you before. When I received it we were in action and barely had time to read it, let alone write.

I will relate to you my trip in detail since I left the good old U. S. A. We left Camp Devens at 2 a. m. on the morning of July 10th and embarked on the Millhams, an English merchant marine, at 4 a. m. and left East Boston at 8 for Halifax where we layed in the harbor for 3 days until a convoy was made up consisting of 23 boats of troops and material, escorted by two large English cruisers. When we were out 7 days and had entered into the danger zone, we were met by 7 submarine chasers and torpedo boats 3 of them flying the Stars and Stripes which indeed looked too like all of us. The trip up all then was dead, and the ocean was very calm, practically no excitement whatever. On the afternoon of July 27th about 4 p. m. we were attacked by two German submarines, at the time we were about 700 miles from the coast of Ireland. The attack lasted about 30 minutes, none of the convoy being hit, but the torpedo boats got one of the subs. It furnished many thrills while it lasted. On July 30th we landed in Newport, Wales, a seaport town on the Bristol River. We were the first American troops to land there, and they received us with enthusiasm, the day was declared a holiday in honor of the event. Cigarettes and hot coffee and sandwiches were furnished us en route along our march to the station which was about five of the longest miles I ever saw. We then continued for Winchester, to a so-called rest camp, where you do every thing but eat. After two days there we went to Southampton, Eng., where we en-our convoy was well cut up with shrapnel. After it ceased we had to work 3 hours filling. In the road to make it possible for us to continue on with our ammunition. While we were having the ammunition unloaded they sent over a gas attack for an appetizer for breakfast, but we all beat him to it. The last 3 days of the war was a beaut. We gave "Jerry" a plenty. The ground around for miles shook beneath you. All along the front they pumped it to them continuously. On the memorable morning of the 11th when hostilities ceased, the doughboys in the front line trenches and the Germans also, came out in the open and shook hands, exchanged souvenirs, drank beer together behind the German lines. Everybody overwhelmed with joy to think that the war was over. The younger Germans were especially courteous toward us, but you would occasionally see a group of older soldiers give us a rather furtive look, no doubt it was a bitter pill for some of them. At the present writing we are located in Troyon, near Verdun. Everybody on the spot of anxiety as to what they are going to do with us, send us to the Rhine or back home. Rumors are around fast and furious. When I was in Camp Devens my one ambition was to cross the Atlantic and I still retain that ambition, only more so than ever. And it is quite obvious that all American soldiers feel the same as I. War is all that Sherman said it was but it is very evident that he didn't know many swear words. I visited Verdun last Sunday. It was the most pitiable sight imaginable, not a single building or dwelling left intact, streets in some sections completely obliterated. It surely was wonderfully fortified. There is an extremely large wall that encloses the whole city, and one can readily see how the Germans could not capture it. The stadium in the center of the city is of very ancient architecture, and worthy of mention. It is a stronghold in itself. They are granting furloughs now, and I get mine from the 20th to the 27th inclusive, so I expect to eat my Xmas dinner in Paris. I got the Portsmouth papers quite often, Frederick Gooding, son of Ray Gooding, who was formerly a Y. M. C. A. Secretary in Camp Devens, joined our regiment before we left. He has supervision of the Canadian and Social Activities for the Regiment. He is very popular with all the boys. Being a schoolmate of mine we have some great chats together. The other Portsmouth boys I very rarely see.

That influenza epidemic sure wrought havoc in the States didn't it? We lost a few men from our company with it. I forgot to mention the fact that we didn't lose a man in action, only had a few minor casualties, miraculously wasn't it? Will have to conclude as it is bed time. My regards to my aunt and uncle, wish you all a Merry Xmas.

Sincerely your friend,
SGT. WM. F. CRONIN,
Supply Co., 303 F. A.

SERGEANT WILLIAM F. CRONIN.

buried about the Yule, which formerly ran between Boston and New York, and crossed the English Channel and landed in La Havre, France, then a long hike to another rest camp. We then continued for Cherbourg, France, located in the central part of France about 750 kilometers south of Paris. They billeted us in a suburban town named Aubiers, a very ancient and historic town, which flourished very prominently in the siege of Gaul during the reign of Caesar, statues and ruins of castles are still in evidence. It was in this town we were detached from the 76th division, and put in an artillery corps. We got equipped here to war strength, being entirely motorized. Our guns were the large French 155 millimeter guns, and were hauled by big Holt 75 tractors, squad trucks for hauling ammunition, and Kelly Springfield for supplies. An outfit like ours was called a "Million Dollar Outfit" by the doughboys. After we were fully equipped we entered for the front. We landed at a rail head called Dugny about six miles south of Verdun. We then started to unload our guns under cover of darkness, but were shortly interrupted by a Bash plane which dropped a few bombs around the train. Everybody took for the dugouts, after 2 hours we resumed work and got all unloaded and proceeded overland about 20 kilometers to our gun positions in the St. Mihiel sector. We established a record in getting into position, and were highly commended by the commanding general. I had charge of the transportation of ammunition and supplies, anything but a pleasant job. All night work and no lights on the trucks at all. We had a few harrowing experiences on the convoy. We were approaching a place called the Five Corners, which was continually under shell fire. One night about 11:30 the shells began to drop a little too close to be comfortable, so we abandoned our trucks, and left them in the road, and took for the dugouts along side the road. The made's direct hits in the middle of the road ahead of us, and

NAVY YARD NOTES

The Call Today.

Four general helpers, two machinists and one fireman made up the list of men called by the Industrial Department today.

Martin Improves.

C. W. Martin, one of the men injured in the submarine accident on Friday is somewhat improved today at the naval hospital. The condition of the other man, E. L. Wright, has not improved any.

Female Operators May Bowl.

Now the female operators are talking some on the sports and may be heard from later. They may not come to the front so strong on basketball but believe they can be represented by a bowling team with hopes of meeting the youths in a contest at the candlepins.

Naval officers have stated that they expected that the naval losses at Black Island and Nantuxet would be closed by the end of this month. Supplies stored at the two stations are being shipped to the headquarters of the second naval base in this city.

All submarine nets protecting Newport and Narragansett Bay have been removed.

Made a Good Start.

Quite a number of the yard yeagirls showed up at the Army for the first basketball practice on Friday evening and made a good impression with their coach. As soon as the team is perfected games will likely be arranged with the high school girls of Amesbury and Dover.

Praised for Their Work.

Much praise is being heard about the yard today of the good work of Lieutenants W. D. Small and H. F. Dyer during the period of rescue of the men in the accident on Friday. The work of these men of the medical corps meant much in the saving of the men's lives and every more they made counted.

Boxing at Charlestown.

There was some lively glove sparring at the Y. M. C. A. hall in the Charlestown navy yard Friday evening, at a tournament for men of the yard and U. S. ships in port, conducted under the direction of Lieut. Harold D. Wilson. Many of the leading boxers of the fleet took part, with Johnny Bryson of the U. S. S. Delaware meeting Frankie Walsh of the U. S. S. Salem in the feature battle. Decisions were not given.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Almira B. Harriman.

Mrs. Almira B. Harriman, a life-long resident of this city, passed away at her home, 107 Deer street, this morning after an illness of about four weeks, convalescing from influenza, she was stricken with a paralytic shock and suffered steadily to the end. Mrs. Harriman was born in this city, Dec. 17, 1838, the daughter of Allan and Ann E. (Ham) Treat, and has resided for the past 40 years on Deer street. Her marriage to George L. F. Harriman occurred nearly a half century ago. Mrs. Harriman was a woman of pleasing personality and endowed with an abundance of good cheer, always looking on the bright side. Until recently she was in very good health for one of her years; could read without glasses and was much interested in current events. About three years ago she made a trip to Chicago alone, and much enjoyed her experiences. Mrs. Harriman was a devoted wife and mother and her heart was filled with love for her family and her loss will be deeply felt by them all. Her only

MORE PEP DISPLAYED BY PUZZLE FANS

From Farway Nashua comes help in this our hour of bewilderment. Mrs. U. W. Morgan (nee Miss Maude Winsor) formerly a nurse in the Portsmouth hospital, sends in a solution of the odd number brainstorm. Here's the way Mrs. Morgan says it should go:

Add 29, 1-3, 5-15, 7-21, equals 59.

William E. Pierce, 2d, of Kittery, Me., says it can't be done, that's all. He admits there may be a trick in it or something. Could we begin to think so ourselves at that. Mr. Pierce's contribution:

"Kittery, Me., Jan. 10, 1919.

"Editor—The odd number puzzle can not be done except by trick. Here is proof. Take the first seven odd numbers, and consequently the smallest, and add them (1, 3, 5, 7, 9, 11, 13—49). Now no one can make them any less except using the small numbers twice. I am sending a solution to Y103's puzzle:

4	7	2—15
1	5	9—15
8	3	4—15

15 15 15

While diagonally the totals are 15.

WM. E. PIERCE."

Scores have solved the puzzle to arrange the numbers from 1 to 9 so that each row of three figures will total 15. Here it is:

8	3	4—15
1	5	9—15

15 15 15

Our new little study for today has not been answered as yet. Is it possible you navy yard men, boat builders and mechanics are stuck. Come on and let's have the answer to this one: What is a third and a half of a third and a half of ten?

Come on! Don't weaken! Can you do it? Send in your solution and keep the things rolling. The first ten solutions of this puzzle will be published. Please make your answers short and write on one side of the paper. Give it good!

SEND SHIP TO ASSIST STEAMER

(By Associated Press)

Baltimore, N. S., Jan. 11.—The steamers Bergen and Fridland reported they were rushing to the Castalia's assistance, the Bergen being about 170 miles away. The latter is an 18 knot boat. The wireless received was as follows: "S. O. S. Castalia 4140 north 30 west striking fast. Condition critical shape. Diffing east. Want assistance immediately."

Sidney, Jan. 11.—The government steamer Lady Laurier here has been ordered by the Marine Fisheries Dept. to proceed immediately to the assistance of the steamship Castalia reported sinking about 65 miles south of Cape.

S. S. CASTALIA WAS A LAKER

(By Associated Press)

New York, Jan. 11.—U. S. Shipping Board officials said here today that the steamer Castalia reported sinking off Nova Scotia was undoubtedly the American steamship which was being brought around from the Great Lakes for overseas service. She was last reported arriving at Sidney, N. S. from Quebec on Jan. 6th, and was bound here. The Shipping Board had up to noon received no word of the Castalia's plight other than through press dispatches.

TRYING TO GET BETTER SERVICE

Talk of Some Changes in Train Schedule Between
Here and Concord.

The governor and other officials of the state are making an attempt to have better train service between this city and Concord. The matter has been taken up with the Boston and Maine and the southern division management has the matter under consideration.

There is a general feeling among the traveling public as well as the railroad employees, that the non-rail should be put back on the schedule over the Portsmouth branch. What the railroad will do in the way of a change in the present service remains to be seen. The officials of the railroad claim that it is a hard problem owing to the connections at Rockingham and Epping.

Runners has it that the train from Concord now leaving at 8.50 p. m. may start later and run over the main line between that city and Manchester to save time. Another point which may be taken up, will be the arrival of the Portsmouth train to Concord earlier in the forenoon.

On Thursday Superintendent Mennery of the Southern division made the trip from Portsmouth to Concord to learn if possible where anything could be done to improve the service.

PERSONALS

Miss Blanche Beaman was in Boston on Friday.

Hiram H. Weaver is quite seriously ill with influenza.

Miss G. E. Lord of Allen avenue passed Friday in Boston.

George Deles has returned from a two weeks' visit in New York.

Miss Floyd Palmer of South street is confined to her home with the influenza.

Nathaniel Willey of Wolfeboro, one of the oldest locomotive engineers of the Boston and Maine, was calling on friends here today.

RAILROAD NOTES

The next session for the winter term of the local Boston and Maine depot have arrived. It is evident that the appropriation for this lot of seats was not very large. The equipment would do for Hampton Falls in New Hampshire.

Stockholders of the Kennebec and Kennebecport railroad voted in favor of the plan for a reorganization of the Boston and Maine railroad system endorsed by Director-General McAdoo of the Federal railroad administration.

Dr. Frank M. Ross, president of the road, presided at the meeting, and 581 of the 650 shares in the company were represented and voted for the plan.

The engineers of the Boston and Maine are said to be taking a vacation on the matter of the recent increase of pay and working hours.

While the railroad officials are looking into the matter of better train service on the Concord and Portsmouth branch they might consider the need of putting back the so-called non-rail for the benefit of the traveling public.

Since the ice inspired a working at the local station of the Boston and Maine were placed on 8 hour basis, the ferry has been increased to six men to cover the different shifts.

Nearly all the engineers and firemen of the Boston and Maine at Portsmouth have appeared in the examination for instructions by Inspector John E. Knowlton. They will be called in later for examination.

John Groat, ice break inspector at the Portsmouth round house, is confined to his home by illness.

A hearing before the Public Service Commission of Massachusetts yesterday, in which many competitors appeared with a view to securing the restoration of passenger trains on the Boston and Maine railroad which were taken off as a war measure, developed the fact that 35 passenger trains arrive at and leave the North Station daily as against 63 in 1910, and that the cost of operation of the road has increased more than 73 per cent since the nation entered the war.

Officials of the company told the congestion on their trains to the fact that the Boston Elevated Company increased its fare schedule.

A crew of Boston and Maine workmen are at Newburyport where they are engaged in enlarging the round house built in the days of the old Eastern railroad. The work was made necessary by the constantly increasing size of the locomotives stables there.

METAL TRADES COUNCIL CARNIVAL FREEMAN'S HALL TONIGHT

MOSES WILL NOW VOTE FOR SUFFRAGE

Washington, Jan. 10.—The vote of Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire for the woman suffrage amendment to the constitution therefore the final victory of the amendment in the Senate, appears practically assured through the action of a New Hampshire lower house in instructing Senator Moses to vote for the amendment. "The suffragists here are advised that the State Senate will approve the amendment also, and Mr. Moses is inclined to think it will. If I receive the mandate from my state of course I shall vote for the amendment," said the Senator today. The suffragists have claimed that they needed only one vote to carry them through and have sought it in Gay of Louisiana and Moses of New Hampshire. Senator Gay hitherto has declined to declare in their favor, on the ground that the issue was one to be acted upon by each of the individual states and not by three-fourths of them, and Senator Moses, while not unfriendly to suffrage or to the Federal amendment, decided to await the action of the New Hampshire Legislature, in view of the bitter and undiplomatic fight made against him by the suffragists in his campaign for election. The question now turns apparently on whether the opposition in the Senate will permit the suffrage amendment to come to a vote.

The National American Woman Suffrage Association today makes public a letter written to Senator Moses by Theodore Roosevelt on Jan. 3, which may be regarded as almost his last words, as he died less than two days after. The letter follows: "My Dear Senator Moses—You know how fond I am of Cabot Lodge, and I think he has done wonderful work during the past three months in international matters, but it is a misfortune from the standpoint of the war that he and Senator Wadsworth of New York and some of your New England senators should have been so very bitter about woman suffrage. I earnestly hope you can see your way clear to support the national amendment. It is coming anyhow, and it ought to come. When States like New York and Illinois adopt it, it can't be called a wild-cat experience. I very earnestly hope you can see your way clear to support the amendment."

"Faithfully yours,
THEODORE ROOSEVELT"

NO CROSS LIBEL IN DICKEY SUIT

The Chronicle was in error on Friday morning in the docket report of the Superior Court, when it stated that it was a cross libel in the divorce of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Dickey. This is not so, Mrs. Dickey has filed a libel against her husband, Ralph C. Dickey of Washington, and there is no action whatever brought by Mr. Dickey, who, however, in the new docket, has entered an appearance through his attorney.

He has not, however, brought any cross libel against Mrs. Dickey, and his attorney disclaims any intention of doing so. Mrs. Dickey, who is one of the best known business women of the city, being treasurer of the Portsmouth Motor Club, has been separated from her husband for some time and makes her home with her parents on Pleasant street.

DELAY IN MAILS BLAMED ON WAR DEPT.

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Jan. 10.—Blame for the delay in the transmission of mail to the soldiers overseas was placed squarely on the war department today by an ardent postmaster general's statement before the post office committee in the house, that it was due to the carelessness and lack of interest on the part of the war department of their failure to work with the post office department that the mails were delayed. He said that there were millions of letters now being sent back to this country to the dead letter office and if possible all would be returned to the senders.

PORTSMOUTH BOY BRINGS HOME DOG FROM OVERSEAS.

Boston, Jan. 10.—Sparks and Depth-charge, a cat and a dog, got their first taste of American hospitality Wednesday when they arrived at the Charleston navy yard aboard destroyers, amidst the peeping of whistles from the yard and the ships in the harbor.

Sparks is the pet of the destroyer, Sigsbee and Depth-charge of the destroyer Bell, these being among the six destroyers that came in Wednesday at different intervals from 1 o'clock until 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Both animals appeared to enjoy the scene, but like the members of the crew of the ships, were glad to get anchorage.

The cat and the dog attracted a great deal of attention. Sparks barks from Boulogne, France, and was given to Charles P. Brandon, radio operator of the Sigsbee. Depth-charge comes from the Arizona and was purchased by Robert L. Dunn of Portsmouth, N. H., for his ten-month-old son, whom he has never seen. Neither of the animals was sickly coming over and Depth-charge served as an alarm clock for his master. He is very fond of pineapple.

The Preliminary will have Chick Miller of Boston and Bat. Downey of Roxbury going six rounds, Mickey Traversa of New Haven and Charlie Kid Miller the same, with Dan Dowd and Battling Thomas in the semi-final.

Gre's only defeat, by the way, was incurred in London, where he lost on points in three rounds in the International Service Tournament. The decision went against him on the English system of points, which does not favor his style of boxing at all. Among other things, he scored a couple of wins over Clay Turner, who was beaten by Kid Norfolk at the Armory last Wednesday.

SHATTUCK SHIP YARD NOTES

Mr. Walter J. A. Ward of Concord, who has been in the Shattuck yard since last spring is now on duty as Sergeant-at-Arms in the New Hampshire House of Representatives, to which office he was elected at the opening of the Legislature last week. Mr. Ward has had long experience at this line of service and is very popular with the New Hampshire Legislators in the yard he was highly esteemed by his fellow workers who hope he will again join the carpenter gang at the close of the legislative session.

Superintendent Kermack's endeavor to put the yard in order has resulted in an improvement that is very marked. In fact the yard never looked so neat as it does today.

Foreman William Green, who saw his ship the Newton take her maiden trip so gracefully last Saturday, may now be found at Way 10. The framework of this ship is rapidly nearing completion.

Now it is the hull on Number Four, away that begins to look like a ship.

How hot or how cold, it is all the same to Captain Greene, Superintendent of Halls. When he has gotten everything ready to launch a ship the ship has taken the water like a swimmer.

J. P. Hare, foreman of the galvanizing plant, should be safe from rust, even now on, since his experience with the spattering metal last Tuesday. He certainly has a fine coating of zinc all right.

Two of the busiest men in the yard are Messrs. Hoeg and Nichols, the gun makers. It is interesting to see them handle the broadaxe, draw-saw, and plane, making every move count.

A BABY'S REMEMBRANCE

"Mother, what time will Daddy come home?" was the question asked by a little girl of life and health, just six years old.

"This is my birthday, and you know Daddy said if I was a good boy and did not take a chance playing around these new buildings, he was going to give me a wagon." And hardly had the boy told of his Daddy's promise, when he fell and a young man, introducing himself as Mr. — of the Shipbuilding Company, entered into his quiet, comfortable home. "Madam," he said, "could you come over to the yard? Your husband has met with an accident."

Hastily the young, faithful wife, thinking of no one but of her husband, rushed off to the yard, where upon her arrival she was escorted to the plant hospital. "This sight was one that is so common—her husband lying here upon a narrow white bed, head bandaged, eyes closed, doctor and nurse both watching attentively for some ray of life which, after hours, failed to appear. The young wife, now a widow with a growing boy, at length somewhat recovered from the terrible shock and asked of those about her, "How did it happen?" But none there dared to tell her. After persistent questioning, the Superintendent finally told that her husband was working on the lower slaying of No. 4 ship when a hammer, falling from above, struck him on the head. Further investigation proved that John —, a fellow employee working on the upper slaying, threw his hammer taking a chance that it would and on the scaffolding. Needless to mention, it didn't, and the result has been told—a life lost, a wife made a widow and forced to find a living for herself and fatherless child.

Much has been said and written about "Safety" and "Carelessness," that the latter has caused much suffering, hardship and loss of money to a known fact. A pay check is always larger than a compensation check. Let us practice the former—"Safety" and eliminate "Carelessness." Don't take a chance. The "chance-taker" is a wanderer and a thief of happiness, as he shown in the above story. Is there a man so hard at heart as to want a baby's remembrance of his birthday to be—"This is the day my Daddy was killed by John — taking a chance."

G. P. KENNY.

SPORT NOTES

The John Kilents-Farmer Bill Dryden bout is safely secured in Jim Foulton's strong box now. After almost a year of negotiations, the Sea port City agriculturist-grappler has been induced to show his wares in this city and the bout comes off Monday Jan. 20 at the Academy.

Foulton has completed the card. The semi-final number will be either in a nature of a burlesque performance with Billy Woods and Ever Ready Lashore, pug of nuts, clashing. The bout should be a scream—not from a stand point of real earnest, scientific wrestling, by any means, though.

The preliminary number will see the confident Kid Henry facing this Kilents. Both youngsters appeared Monday night and by mutual agreement decided to call the affair "even-Stephen" after securing a full apiece, both claiming injuries.

The Knickerbocker A. C. announced its boxing card for the Portsmouth fans at their show to be given Thursday, Jan. 16th, today.

The card is an all star attraction and on paper looks like a sweet evening of fistfights.

The opener will bring Young Scotty and Young Marks together for six frames. This pair of featherweights have drawn twice and are busy little fellows all the time.

Jack Green and Kid Tremblay, middleweights of New York into each other and two previous drawn battles only increased their mutual dislike. The winner will take all if either is alive at the end of ten sessions.

The final, a ten frame spasm, will introduce two hard-hitting middleweights, Kid Green, colored, and Dusty Rell of New York. Both are right in shape and as the issue means much to both, a whole of a set is anticipated.

The Army A. A. of Boston on Tuesday night will bring together two boxers of national repute, Harry Greb of Pittsburgh and Leo Houck of Lancaster, Pa. The pair box twelve rounds at the Grand Opera House, the main feature of a card which also includes two six round affairs and an eight-round semi-final.

Gre's only defeat, by the way, was incurred in London, where he lost on points in three rounds in the International Service Tournament. The decision went against him on the English system of points, which does not favor his style of boxing at all. The decision went against him on the English system of points, which does not favor his style of boxing at all. Among other things, he scored a couple of wins over Clay Turner, who was beaten by Kid Norfolk at the Armory last Wednesday.

The Preliminary will have Chick Miller of Boston and Bat. Downey of Roxbury going six rounds, Mickey Traversa of New Haven and Charlie Kid Miller the same, with Dan Dowd and Battling Thomas in the semi-final.

SPORT NOTES

The John Kilents-Farmer Bill Dryden bout is safely secured in Jim Foulton's strong box now. After almost a year of negotiations, the Sea port City agriculturist-grappler has been induced to show his wares in this city and the bout comes off Monday Jan. 20 at the Academy.

Foulton has completed the card. The semi-final number will be either in a nature of a burlesque performance with Billy Woods and Ever Ready Lashore, pug of nuts, clashing. The bout should be a scream—not from a stand point of real earnest, scientific wrestling, by any means, though.

The preliminary number will see the confident Kid Henry facing this Kilents. Both youngsters appeared Monday night and by mutual agreement decided to call the affair "even-Stephen" after securing a full apiece, both claiming injuries.

The Knickerbocker A. C. announced its boxing card for the Portsmouth fans at their show to be given Thursday, Jan. 16th, today.

The card is an all star attraction and on paper looks like a sweet evening of fistfights.

The opener will bring Young Scotty and Young Marks together for six frames. This pair of featherweights have drawn twice and are busy little fellows all the time.

Jack Green and Kid Tremblay, middleweights of New York into each other and two previous drawn battles only increased their mutual dislike. The winner will take all if either is alive at the end of ten sessions.

The final, a ten frame spasm, will introduce two hard-hitting middleweights, Kid Green, colored, and Dusty Rell of New York. Both are right in shape and as the issue means much to both, a whole of a set is anticipated.

The Army A. A. of Boston on Tuesday night will bring together two boxers of national repute, Harry Greb of Pittsburgh and Leo Houck of Lancaster, Pa. The pair box twelve rounds at the Grand Opera House, the main feature of a card which also includes two six round affairs and an eight-round semi-final.

Gre's only defeat, by the way, was incurred in London, where he lost on points in three rounds in the International Service Tournament. The decision went against him on the English system of points, which does not favor his style of boxing at all. Among other things, he scored a couple of wins over Clay Turner, who was beaten by Kid Norfolk at the Armory last Wednesday.

The Preliminary will have Chick Miller of Boston and Bat. Downey of Roxbury going six rounds, Mickey Traversa of New Haven and Charlie Kid Miller the same, with Dan Dowd and Battling Thomas in the semi-final.

COPLEY THEATRE.
"The Doctor's Dilemma," one of the best-known and most-talked-about of Bernard Shaw's plays, has been a long time coming to the Boston stage. Its production by the Henry Jewett Players at the Copley Theatre, for the first time in Boston on Monday evening, will therefore be an affair of exceptional interest, especially as this organization has already acted several of Shaw's notable comedies with no little success and with a large response from the public. It is needless to say that "The Doctor's Dilemma" is worth waiting for. Its action centres around one Sir Colenso Ridgdon, who is an eminent London surgeon. He has a cure for consumption which he has kept a secret. Louis Dubedat, a painter, appears to be a satisfactory candidate for treatment by the famous physician's secret method. He is married to a beautiful woman, Jennifer, who adores him. She beseeches Ridgdon to save her husband, and he responds to her appeal with a reluctant consent.

At a dinner of doctors a consultation is held upon Dubedat's case, and all agree that the prospective patient is a man afflicted, phlegmatic, who has attempted to borrow money from each of them.

The cast of "The Doctor's Dilemma" at the Copley will include Mr. Whitfield as Sir Colenso Ridgdon, Mr. Laidlaw as Louis Dubedat, Mr. Deemah as Sir Patrick Cullen, Mr. Olive as Dr. Henderson, Mr. Clarke as Dr. Schatzmacher, Mr. Redmond as Redmond, Miss Newcombe as Mrs. Dubedat, Miss Gordon as Jennifer, and Miss Mary Hamilton as Miss Tidwell.

WAR SAVING STAMPS FOR 1919 ARE NOW ON SALE.

Secretary Macdonald's signature appears upon War Savings Certificate of 1918, but the Certificate of 1919 had not been the signature of his successor, Secretary Glass, because of the necessity of this change, the issue of the 1919 Certificates was delayed so that they are just now being delivered to parts of this district. In a short time they will be on hand at all postoffices and banks. District postoffices will receive them from their supply from their Central Accounting offices without requisition.

Warning: War Savings Stamps of 1919 should not be placed upon a 1918 War Savings Certificate, as they add nothing to the value of such Certificate.

Thrift Cards which were partly filled at the end of 1918 may be completed in 1919 and exchanged for a War Savings Stamp of the 1919 issue. There has been no change in the Thrift Stamp.

The delay in delivery of the new Certificates is unfortunate, but apparently was impossible to avoid. Having just been informed of the reason for it, I am passing it along to you for the benefit of all concerned. Please do your best to explain the situation to those who wish to obtain the new certificates. They are being shipped as fast as they are delivered from the press.

Yours very truly,
ALLEN HOLLIS,
State Director.

WOOD SHIPS SOUND.

The Emergency Fleet Corporation, Wood Ship Division, has recently fully investigated the numerous claims concerning the poor results obtained from wooden ships. Its final finding is that the real cause of troubles that have only occasionally arisen is green timber. The following is the report: The wood ship division of the United States Shipping Board, Emergency Fleet Corporation, has recognized the soundness of wooden built ships, which have been demonstrated in operation. All of the troubles which the vessels have developed have been due to causes such as the building from green lumber and which was then not sufficiently caulked, a few cases lead elsewhere, but not enough to have mentioned the fact of Masters and crews of ships that are now in operation have borne out these reports in different occasions, also stating that more attention should be given to the building of larger ships.

This wood ship division after a careful investigation decided to recommend that efforts be concentrated upon the construction of a 3,000-ton flush deck wood ship which would be as strong as the 3,500-ton Ferris type now being built and which could be produced at a saving per ton.

ATLANTIC HTS. SCHOOL HOUSE HELD UPRequest Came From the Local School Board.

Held up! Such was the report that came from Atlantic Heights this morning and it referred to work being done on the new schoolhouse. In other words, at the request of the local board of instruction made to the Emergency Meet, orders were issued to the officers in charge at the heights to stop all work. It seems that the board of instruction at its last meeting decided that with the present number of children there the temporary building would suffice. It will be recalled that all plans were with the approval of the board and that a special committee went over the situation and located the building which was to cost $75,000. The board it appears, has undergone a change and believes that a nine room building is too large and that a small building there would answer and that a large building should be located near Christian Shore.

WOMEN'S SUFF. FAVORED BY ALL LABOR UNIONSExpect the Measure Will Pass State Senate Predicted by the "Suffs."

R. A. Conroy, president of the New Hampshire State Federation of Labor and chief of the Portsmouth office of the United States Employment Service, made the following statement this morning regarding the so-called suffrage resolution which passed the New Hampshire House by a majority of seventy-five on Wednesday. The measure is a concurrent resolution and it will come before the Senate next week. Mr. Conroy's statement is of interest in view of the fact that Sen. Marvin of this district will have to speak for this 21st senatorial district.

"Speaker Tobey read aloud in the House at Concord on Tuesday many resolutions sent by labor unions all over the state, asking the legislature to pass the resolution requesting Senator Moses to vote for the submission to the states of the national suffrage amendment. Organized labor in this and other states stands solidly for boots, but Beard failed to make the delivery and slipped away with the five bucks. Brunell could not find Beard to get back his money and he put the police wise to the game. He brought in a bottle with a little of the contents and said it was part of a previous case made by Beard, who denied it. The court ordered Beard to remit $25 and costs of $4.95 if he wished to be released.

The third case was that of a Portland man, Samuel Goldstein, for violation of the auto law. He was on his way to Boston with a truck load of furniture and the police got him as he was carrying a chauffeur's license of 1918 and the auto plate number was of the year passed. He claimed that the state of Maine allows 15 days from Jan. 1 to use old plates, etc., and he thought he was within the law in New Hampshire. The court imposed a fine of $5 and costs of $5.46, which he paid and went on his way with a chance of another holiday in Massachusetts.

THE HERALD HEARS

That a new electric sign will be placed on Congress street for the Apollo Lunch.

That 600 tons of stove coal is being sold in Salem, Mass., at cut rates.

That only Salem people are in on the sale and not more than a thousand pounds goes to one person.

That 1919 ought to be a good year for baseball. There are two first rate nines in it, and each of them has "one" to the good.

That one of the best New Year resolutions is "not to start anything you cannot finish."

That nobody seems to be starting anything among the speeders on the Portsmouth speedway.

That burglary doesn't seem to be such a paying industry as it formerly was—not in Newark, anyway.

That a gang of safe-blowers worked all night in that city and only got $18.

That the farmers in the legislature are asking "what will we do with our apples if the enter-dill passes?"

That they might increase pie making, flood the market with dried fruit or toss a barrel or two to their livestock once in awhile.

That the Saca man who let the cat out of a bag of grain in which pussy had been tied up for over a week, doesn't know whether the occurrence was lucky or not, but the cat does.

GET THE SPIRIT OF HELPING PORTSMOUTHHow the Portsmouth Herald Serves Up the News.

Every line in the Herald is written to interest and to give you the news, both local and foreign. The foreign news, that is outside of Portsmouth, comes over the special wires of the great Associated Press, the news-gathering association that is official. How often do you hear this query when one is in doubt about the truth of a big news story? Does the A. P. say it is so? The authenticity of an item is at once established if the A. P. sends it. This great service comes only to the evening Herald and morning Chronicle in this territory. It is expensive and but few small city papers have it, but the Herald spares no expense.

The columns of the Herald are not used to "knock" Portsmouth or its people. It welcomes constructive criticism but it does not permit its columns to be used to hurt the community or its people.

The object of the Herald is to boost and it makes that a feature in its effort to put the city to the front in industry and everything that is for the benefit of our people.
